

VOGUE

BRITISH

Sweet success

V by THE VOGUE BLOG
26 JULY 2012

Our favourite new discovery for delicious ice creams and desserts is NINA, a South of France-inspired company producing home-made treats. Having worked at L'Anima and Bocca di Lupo's Gelupo, Nina Parker has gained quite a following in the Vogue offices with her solo venture. From salted caramel on brioche to fig, poppy-seed and polenta cake, and Madagascan vanilla ice-cream - all served from her Seventies Citroen van, which can be hired for events - ice cream never looked so chic. Catch up with her at www.wefeast.co.uk in a fortnight, where she'll be serving up delectable treats.

