

ELLE

Wilderness festival in Oxfordshire is of the Port Eliot ilk: next big thing music (Lianne La Havas, Stormoway, Temper Trap as headliners), outdoorsy pursuits like foraging and lake swimming, a big foodie influence thanks to Ottolenghi, St John and Moro, plus this year some look-at-me style thanks to joining forces with the Vintage Festival which was previously held at London's Southbank.

So in one corner you'll find hippy dippy layers, in the other a head-to-toe 50s pin up look.

We sent our intrepid street style photographer to record the results...
